

Experiential Learning

Experiential learning is an educational approach that emphasizes learning through direct experience and reflection. Unlike traditional lecture-based methods, this hands-on approach immerses students in real-world situations, allowing them to apply theoretical knowledge to practical scenarios. By engaging in activities such as industrial visits, department association activities, and fieldwork, students develop critical thinking, problem-solving skills, and a deeper understanding of their subject matter. This form of active learning fosters personal growth and prepares students for professional success by bridging the gap between academic concepts and real-life applications.

On the 23rd of September department of Psychology conducted a National Level Webinar on ‘Neuropsychology of Happiness’ at 2.30 pm via Google Meet in collaboration with the Psychology Self-financing department. The resource person of this webinar was Dr. Susan Thomas, Assistant Professor, St, John’s Research Institute Bangalore. Aswathy B.

NATIONAL LEVEL WEBINAR
NEUROPSYCHOLOGY OF HAPPINESS

ABOUT THE WEBINAR

The structural and functional aspects of emotions in general and happiness in particular are of interest to neuroscientists across the globe. With the advances in science and the use of high-end equipment to study the brain, our understanding regarding the neuroanatomical, neurochemical and neurophysiological basis of emotions has improved tremendously. The success of scientific enquiry regarding happiness will be many-fold when it can be used not only to understand the mechanisms involved, but also to improve the quality of life of individuals by providing helpful and practical suggestions

ABOUT THE RESOURCE PERSON

Dr. Susan Thomas did her M Phil in Clinical Psychology and PhD in Clinical Neuropsychology from NIMHANS, Bangalore. Subsequently, she was awarded a Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Cognitive Neurosciences from the Department of Science and Technology, Government of India. She is currently working as Assistant Professor in the Division of Mental Health and Neurosciences, St. John's Research Institute, Bangalore. Her research areas include maternal mental health and child cognitive development. She is involved in several international research projects in collaboration with Harvard University, University of California, University of Chicago, University of Bergen (Norway), and trains researchers from these universities and from institutes across India in psychological assessment and therapies. She was recently awarded the Fogarty fellowship from the National Institutes of Health (NIH), USA, and has published several scientific papers in prestigious international and national journals

Academic Year 2018-2019

Industrial Visit

On 10th October 2018, we visited Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC) along with our teachers Dr. Ranjini Radhakrishnan and Dr. Feby Jose. Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC) is the leading centre of Indian Space Research Organization (ISRO) under the Department of Space (DOS), Government of India. The Centre is named in fond memory of Dr Vikram A Sarabhai, the great visionary and the father of Indian Space Programme. The Thumba Equatorial Rocket Launch Station (TERLS) was established in 1962 for this purpose under UN sponsorship. By 11am, the students reached near the Thumba Equatorial Rocket Launch Station (TERLS) to watch the launching of Sounding Rockets. Sounding rockets are generally launched monthly on every third Wednesday at 11: 45 hrs, for scientific purposes. Visitors are allowed to witness the launch.
