SEMINAR ON AGRIPRENEURSHIP

HANDS-ON TRAINING IN OYSTER MUSHROOM CULTIVATION

Mushroom is considered to be as a complete and safest food and suitable for all age groups. Mushroom cultivation is comparatively easy work because it requires only a little technical efficiency and is a highly profitable agripreneurship venture. Thus, mushroom cultivation is an ideal strategy to alleviate poverty and for providing employment for educated unemployed, youths, adolescents and women. The current training promotes Agri based microenterprises among students by the development of skills that will be beneficial to their livelihood.

This is the second training session conducted as part of the one-year certificate course in “Mushroom cultivation” for the final year BSc Botany students. The goal of the program was to teach students about mushroom farming and culture techniques, as well as to help them gain information about wild mushrooms, distinguish between poisonous and edible mushrooms, and provide hands-on training and business development in oyster mushroom cultivation. Dr. Mathews.T. Thelly (HOD, Botany Department) spoke about the scope and importance of Mushroom cultivation. The training program was coordinated by Ms. Midhila Baby (Faculty in charge, Certificate course in mushroom cultivation). Ms. Deepa Mary Joseph and Ms. Meenakshi Sabu, both Botany department faculties, took training sessions.

22 students of the 3rd BSc Botany benefitted from the training. The program commenced on 1st March, 2023 with demonstration of substrate sterilization and preparation of mushroom beds. Students were also provided with the training on how to water the mushroom beds, screen the mushroom beds for any possible contamination and to access the mycelial growth in the beds were given in the following days.

The mushroom produce was harvested from 21th day onwards and was put for sale in the college community under the name”white blooms”

In the first session on 14th January as an introduction, the orator spoke on different methods regarding research methods. He started the session on how to conduct research and how to select the topic for research purposes. He explained how the research topic can be influenced by a person's interest. he went on to explain to the students the topic of introduction to variables and the reminders that the students have to keep in mind while choosing a variable.

In the second session on 4th March, the main topic discussed was the result analysis and the procedures involving it, and the interpretation of the table. JAMОВI was also introduced to the students. REPORT

An Agri Entrepreneur skill development programme on 'Soil Testing for Integrated Nutrient Management' was organised by the Department of Botany in association with the Internal Quality assurance cell of Kuriakose Elias College, Mannanam on August 19, 2020. This webinar was organised in recognition of the importance Integrated Nutrient Management for sustainable agriculture and entrepreneurship development.

Dr. Mathews. T. Thelly (HOD and IQAC coordinator) welcomed the resource person and participants to the webinar. Dr. Brigit Paul (Principal, K. E college Mannanam) delivered the inaugural address. Fr. Dr. Xavier C.S CMI (Vice Principal, K. E college Mannanam) felicitated the gathering. The resource person Ms. Sherly Zacharias (Assistant Director, Soil Testing Laboratory Kozha) provided knowledge of how integrated nutrient management helps in maintaining soil fertility and of plant nutrient supply, at an optimum level, for sustaining the desired productivity.

Integrated nutrient management aims at optimal use of nutrient sources on a cropping-system or crop-rotation basis. One of the important aspects of integrated nutrient management is that it assists in the restoration and maintenance of soil fertility and crop productivity. It may also aid in preventing the emergence of nutritional deficiencies other than NPK. It reduces fertilizer waste and has a positive impact on the soil's physical, chemical, and biological environment.

A total of 80 participants attended the programme. Ms. Theja Joseph (Assistant Professor, Botany Department) proposed the vote of thanks. This session encourages farmers to focus on long-term planning of cultivation methods and field preparation and make greater consideration for environmental impacts.

NATIONAL SEMINAR ON

SUBALTERNITY IN TEXTS AND DISCOURSES &

Human Rights and Intellectual Property Rights

- 1. SOCIAL/ACADEMIC/ENVIRONMENTAL RELEVANCE OF THE PROGRAMME: Nowadays, everything is getting propelled each second of time. Regular beginnings with something new. Whatever be the field, everything is getting progressed. Lots of researches and studies are carried out various subjects around the world. These updates on various fields cannot be included in the student curriculum. The students have to always keep their eyes on what new things are arriving day by day. Academically, seminars empower students with lots of knowledge and information. Students cannot improve their knowledge from textbooks alone. They must be taking part in various seminars on latest topics. There are also many advantages apart from acquiring knowledge. By presenting papers in front of their teachers and friends, the students will be able to talk before a crowd later in their life without any difficulty. Also, they can learn their mistakes and can improve their seminar presentation skills. It is actually a great chance for the students to improve their skills within their curriculum. Academic Seminars are good for networking (meeting new scholars and also those whom you already know) and students can discuss ideas for future co-operation and sometimes they can also work on ongoing projects/papers. Moreover, Seminars are also good for getting new ideas and understanding what is becoming 'hot' on recent topics (as journals are always a bit late because their publication process is longer). Academic conferences are the Right place to meet the Researchers working in the same area. Academically, it is a chance for our students to mingle with different researchers and resource persons. And it is the right place to learn how to present a Research Work to an audience who can help them by giving comments/Asking Questions.

Report on National Seminar- CYBER FORENSICS AND

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS IN CYBER SPACE

Department of Statistics and Computer Applications, K E College, Mannanam , organized a One day National Seminar entitled ‘CYBER FORENSICS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS IN CYBER SPACE’ on 29th August 2019 jointly with IQAC and Cyber Cell Kottayam . This topic is very relevant especially among computer professionals. Aim of this seminar is to act as a catalyst to raise awareness regarding computer forensic which continues to grow as one of the most important branch of science and help in investigation of cyber-crime which continues to grow as one of the most potent threats to the Internet and computer users of the cyber society. Mr. George Jacob, Cyber Cell Expert, Kottayam was the resource person of the programme.

ABOUT THE SEMINAR

Cyber Forensics is the application of investigation and analysis techniques to gather and preserve evidence from a particular computing device in a way that is suitable for presentation in a court of law. The goal of Cyber Forensics is to perform a structured investigation while maintaining a documented chain of evidence to find out exactly what happened on a computing device and who was responsible for it. Forensic investigators typically follow a standard set of procedures. After physically isolating the device in question to make sure it cannot be accidentally contaminated, investigators make a digital copy of the device's storage media.

Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs) are legal rights that protect creations and/or inventions resulting from intellectual activity in the industrial, scientific, literary or artistic fields. The most common IPRs include patents, copyrights, marks and trade secrets. Intellectual property (IP) is a category of property that includes intangible creations of the human intellect. There are many types of intellectual property, and some countries recognize more than others

The main purpose of intellectual property law is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods. To achieve this, the law gives people and business property rights to the information and intellectual goods they create, usually for a limited period of time.
