Institutional Values and Best Practices

7.1: Institutional and Social Responsibilities

7.1.4

Sensitization to the Constitutional Obligations

Constitutional obligations refer to the duties and responsibilities that citizens and government entities are required to uphold under a nation's constitution, ensuring the protection of rights and the proper functioning of governance. Kuriakose Elias College actively educates students about their responsibilities toward society, providing opportunities to raise awareness of their duties. During the COVID-19 pandemic, the NCC Army Wing released an awareness video to inform the public about the virus. The institution also organizes programs to sensitize students and staff to their constitutional responsibilities, fostering political awareness through events like Human Rights Day, Constitution Day, and Democracy Day. Additionally, seminars on democracy, social justice, and the new media order and similar topics are conducted. The NSS cell promotes unity and integrity through its initiatives. The college has displayed the preamble of the constitution in the college library and the National Anthem is played every working day.

PREAMBLE OF THE CONSTITUTION

The preamble of the Constitution is displayed in the college library, serving as a constant reminder of the foundational principles and values that underpin our democratic system. By presenting the preamble in this central location, the college emphasizes the importance of understanding and respecting these constitutional ideals. This display has a significant impact on students, as it fosters a deeper awareness of their rights and responsibilities as citizens. It also inspires a sense of civic pride and encourages students to engage actively in upholding democratic values both within the college and beyond.

ELECTION AND PARLIAMENTARY ENGAGEMENT

The Union election at KE College serves as a practical exercise in democracy, allowing students to actively participate and understand the significance of their constitutional obligations. By organizing elections, KE College reinforces the constitutional principle that every citizen has a duty to engage in the democratic process, starting at the institutional level. The college's commitment to holding elections reflects its dedication to instilling democratic values and fulfilling its constitutional obligation to prepare students for active citizenship. Teachers at KE College are encouraged to take on roles such as presiding officers and polling officers in parliamentary elections, reflecting the institution's commitment to democratic engagement. Their participation not only supports the electoral process but also exemplifies civic responsibility and leadership for the students.

COLLEGE UNION ELECTION

The college union election at KE College provides students with hands-on experience in democratic processes, fostering a deeper understanding of leadership and civic responsibility. Participating in these elections helps students develop essential skills such as teamwork, communication, and decision-making, which are valuable both within and beyond the academic setting. Every year, the college conducts elections with one department designated to oversee the election process and another department entrusted with the management of the college union.
